KIWANIANS HEAR TALK ON CANADIAN ARMED FORCES

The members of the Kiwanis Club of Madoc had a most enjoyable and informative evening on February 2nd, 1970, when their guest speaker, Capt. Temple, of the Recruiting Centre, Ottawa, outlined the basic changes in the Canadian Armed Forces, together with the educational opportunities available to the young man who would like to complete his education in a Canadian Military College or University.

Capt. Temple showed slides of the three Canadian Military Colleges, namely:- The Royal Military College of Canada at Kingston, Ontario; The Royal Military College, Royal Roads, at Victoria, B.C., and Le College Militaire Royal de Saint-Jean at St. Jean, Quebec, wherein a young man could obtain a 4-year university course with all tuition fees, lodging, books, uniforms, etc. provided free. For this however, he would have to remain in the service for another four years. These four years plus the four years of his university training would give him eight years towards a pension.

A look at the young men in these Military Colleges shows them to be keen, eager and alert, for their course not only prepares them for a four-year university course in Arts, Science or Engineering, but it also prepares them for highly skilled jobs with pay, comparable to the pay received by those in civilian life.

It was at this point that Capt. Temple pointed out that while the 4-year university course as above required a Senior or Junior matriculation certificate for entrance into the officers Training Course, there were wonderful opportunities for those young men who had but their first year of a Secondary School Education in the skilled Technician Course.

The Technician Course covered some 100 specialized trades, such as sea weapons, scuba diving, radar maintenance; also Engines Technicians, Radio Operators, etc., so important to the successful operation of a modern army.

As Kiwanians, all were particularly interested in the four-year university course, wherein a young man could be sponsored in his first year, to start him off on his career.

The pay the young man would receive from the Canadian Government during the summer holidays of his 2nd, 3rd and 4th years would be sufficient to carry him on through to graduation.

It is this project we hope to carry over into our Madoc High School Kiwanis "Key" Club, which is now under way.

As a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the guests from Ottawa, Capt. Temple and Capt. Holland, all heartily endorsed the Armed Forces plan for providing exceptional educational opportunities to those young Canadians, between the ages of 17 and 24 who are interested in extending their education in a Canadain Military College.

TWEED RINK WINS CORBYS MENS BONSPIEL

Madoc's second annual men's bonspiel was played on Friday, January 30th and Saturday, January 31st, with sixteen teams from Madoc, Stirling, Tweed, Marmora and Haliburton taking part.

A Tweed rink of Bert Dunn, Bob Sullivan, Joe Chisholm and skip Frank Tate successfully defended the Corby's trophy, winning it for the second year in a row.

Winning over Cliff Derry of Madoc in the opening game on Friday night, they came back on Saturday with three more victories, over DeJong of Stirling, John Sheridan, Stirling and Garnet Brownson of Marmora in the finals to the score of 10 - 8.

Garnet Brownson's team was the runner-up in the first event. His team was composed of Pat McNamara, Ted Fox and Earl Clemenger.

The finals of the second event was a game between two Madoc teams, with Cyril Shaw's rink of Harold Harris, Bill Armstrong and Ab Fox defeating Cliff Derry, 7 - 5.

Derry's team was runner-up in the second event. Team members were Rev. Heard, Francis Bosley and Larry Stickwood.

The third and last event was won by DeJong of Stirling over Bob Colliver of Haliburton.

Let's force pollution controls

The Canadian government has introduced a Canada Water Act; president Richard Nixon pledges a $10 billion fight against pollution in the United States; one of the top executives of a soap company feels the North American prefers his pollution-causing detergents to a new product.

The statements by the Lever Brothers executive should convince us all that only by force will all industries that pollute our air and our streams join the public in the battle to save mankind.

According to the soap companies, the housewives of Canada and the United States demand detergents, even if the phosphates they contain will eventually kill off our lakes and streams, turning our most important natural resource into a smelly mess, unfit for even a boat. To their way of thinking, it is up to the municipalities to install expensive machines to remove the phosphates at the sewage treatment plants — leave the detergents alone.

Ontario, the best organized province in Canada in the battle against water pollution, has given notice that the government has a different idea.

Legislation is being prepared, according to insiders, that will call for detergent manufacurers to eliminate phosphates over a five-year period.

And in answer to the soap companies, housewives in London, Ont., appeared before the International Joint Commission hearing on pollution. A week before this same commission, sitting across the "dying" lake in Erie, Pa., had heard the soap company suggestion that municipalities should spend the money, not change the detergents.

One housewife, Mrs. Elizabeth Futer, put the whole matter in proper light when she said she was more concerned about the future of her children than in how white her wash was.

Another woman called for tough laws against the soap companies, adding: "We should tell them they are not only acting immorally but also illegally."

For several years now, the soap companies have been battling on radio, television and in the newspapers over who has the whitest, white. New ingredients are added periodically in the hope that the public will be convinced Brand X has what it takes.

If only a small portion of the millions spent to convince housewives to leave plain old soap for new sudsy detergents, was spent on finding a product to whiten wash without killing humanity, the continent would be well on the way to beating pollution.

Of course, detergents aren't the only culprits — industrial giants, particularly the pulp and paper industry, deserve a major share of the blame.

But the paper companies have shown signs that they recognize the problem and have announced plans to combat pollution. Of course, some of their public comments clearly show that the small steps they now are taking are not completely voluntary.

For example, this is what the president of Domtar, Canada's largest paper producer, is quoted as saying following a conviction and $1,000 fine for pollution in Lake Superior: "We're a little unhappy about the conviction . . . we thought the Ontario Water Resources Commission boys would leave us alone after we had showed them our plans for pollution control."

Come, now, Mr. T. N. Beaupre! Domtar has been polluting more than Lake Superior. As Provincial Judge T. A. Connor said: "We can't have a heritage of polluted lakes and cesspools for future generations. This country is long overdue in taking a stand on pollution. It's time we tried to reclaim some of these waters."

And we feel the judge is speaking for the majority of Canadians who are tired of hearing the cries of the polluters for more time.

Either they immediately start installing pollution controls, or the government will be forced to close companies down. Certainly, the price of pollution control is enormous. But there is no substitute for fresh water and fresh air. Man, who can walk on the moon, can find a substitute for paper, the automobile and sudsy detergents.

Looking at you with his contagious smile is Tim, 15 months old. Anglo-Saxon in background, he is a real towhead with big blue eyes and very fair skin. He has always been in good health except for a few colds.

Tim looks chubby in his picture but is slim, wiry and very active. He can walk and climb all over the furniture but when he's really in a hurry crawling is faster. He is a happy, easy-going baby, developing normally.

Tim loves other children but can be contented if he has to play alone. He is responsive to music which sets him dancing.

This little boy needs parents who will not worry over mental illness in his father's family. To inquire about adopting Tim please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. For general adoption information ask your Children's Aid Society.

Oh, the frustration of working

I've been thinking seriously about giving up my job as a teacher, and settling for a lot less money and a lot more peace of mind. And I'm not the only one.

Colleagues, right and left, are unhappy. One would like to go into the hotel business. Another dreams of buying some rough land on Manitoulin Island, and raising sheep.

Others, who have been teaching a long time, are planning to quit soon and take a reduced pension, rather than battle it out to the full term. They can't face another five years of teaching apathetic, lazy and insolent kids.

Another friend, who has taught happily for 23 years, says he used to look forward to every day of it. This year, he admits, he faces each day with a sort of vague horror. Still another is socking every nickel he can spare into investments so that he can get out while he retains his sanity.

Had lunch the other day with a chap who this year, after some years of running his own business, came into teaching — in the technical department. On his own, he worked 10 or 12 hours a day. At this lunch period, he didn't stop talking for half an hour. From the outside, he thought teaching was a snap. The pay was good, and the holidays looked great. Now, he's exhausted at the end of a teaching day, though he's done no physical labour. He said: "I never knew there were kids like these."

Perhaps we sound like a bunch of old fogies who are getting tired. Most of those I've mentioned are in their 40s, not quite in the old-fogey class. And they've enjoyed their teaching for years.

But another colleague is talking about going to the Northwest Territories. Another is thinking of taking a job in a steel plant. His wife, also a teacher, wants to get out and do social work, at less money. They are all in their 20s.

All of us are making quite reasonable salaries. It would be quite a wrench, financially, to quit, especially for those who have roots in the community, a mortgage, and growing children to educate.

But the malaise is there. And it's difficult to put your finger on the trouble. Our wives are getting worried They ask, "What is wrong, specifically?" And it's difficult to give an answer that doesn't sound trivial. It's a host of little things which add up to one word -- frustration.

What is the trouble, then? I think there are two major sources. First, the pendulum has swung too far — from a system that was archaic to one with med permissivences. Everyone is supposed to do his own thing. Sad truth is that a majority of teenagers hasn't got a "thing" to do. They want to be entertained, not learn.

They'll sit happily through a movie at school, chewing gum. But try to get them to talk about it, express their ideas, relate it to their own lives, and they groan with boredom. They're mentally lazy, as most teenagers have always been Their favourite comment on a thought-provoking, stimulating movies, is "Stoopid."

I've never believed in corporal punishment, either as a disciplinary deterrent or as a spur. But I'm beginning to wonder. I am hurt and alarmed at the increasing lack of courtesy, the "who cares?" attitude of the kids, and the increase in plain, dirty talk. (The language you can hear in a modern high school, especially among girls, would curdle your blood.)

You can imagine the joyous rapture of my wife to my proposal that I quit. Like the good little wife she is, she said she'd go anywhere with me, and do anything, as long as I was happy. She made up a great list of where and how we could save money, without the salary.

But the reaction has set in, and in 100 casual, little hints she is revealing the utter folly of it all. But I was prepared for that, and I'm going to keep her thinking about a shack, and a pot-bellied stove, and potatoes, and porridge for a while yet. It'll do her good.

Curling's tight-pants contest

Football is finally over, international hockey isn't that important to us, baseball training camps are soon to be open, the National Hockey League hasn't produced many surprises as to where the various teams will finish, it's too cold to play golf or tennis, soccer's unpopularity continues to grow in this country, so . . . how about a column on curling.

It has been suggested by one of my readers.

Yes, madam, February is the bleakest month of the year for the sports-writing fraternity. This is the month when we all hit our slump.

After thinking about the curling suggestion for a total of 17 seconds, a decision was made. A curling column would be an excellent idea, except all of the curlers I have come in contact with appear to be more prolific with their knowledge of cocktails than rocks. Hmmm, maybe there is a connection between the two, although it must be remote.

Before we advance too far into this column let me make one point clear. I have always enjoyed watching the sport of curling, it offers advantages that no other sport can match.

What is enjoyable about watching curling is that you can sit comfortably behind a glassed-in area with a watering hole close by and not have to dress any warmer than if you were enjoying life at the Princess Hotel in Bermuda. However, the coup de grace of observing the game of curling is when the gals take to the ice.

Now this is a treat. You can be your own judge at your own, private fashion show.

For those males who haven't watched the ladies curling, let me give you an idea of just what you've been missing.

Let's entitle my recent visit to a ladies bonspiel. The Tight-Pants Contest. (Now just a second, madam) this isn't going to be anything like the way Harold Robbins writes).

When the females take to the ice make sure you have equipped yourself with a double, at least. Also, another important point is to arrive early so you can get an excellent chair for viewing. Both of these rules must be adhered to, or you'll be penalized.

And if you can't read between those lines, well, forget it pal, you're not ready for the big leagues. Okay, now you've got your double clenched between perspiring fingers and your view is perfect. You're ready!

Focus your gaze only at the end in which you are sitting. Zero in on the gals delivering the rocks. It is only a rare moment when your glazed pupils will glance away to watch the petite blonde with the skintight slacks doing a little sweeping.

Right now I would like to say that it is amazing how these gals can even bend at the knees, never mind crouching. Their curling slacks are so tight that it appears they have been purchased from the teen sweeping.

And you have all the colors imaginable. It is a wonderful view, out-doing the most picturesque peek from the top of section of the store.

Oh yes, before we go any farther, there's another rule. Don't lean too close to the glass when you're watching. Condensation will form quickly and ruin about 54 seconds of viewing time.

Also pay close attention to the leads and seconds. This is where the rookie curlers are positioned. And, for some unexplicable reason, their pants are always the tightest and they are the most attractive gals.

Unfortunately, and all too soon, the game will come to an end. The gals will leave the ice and head for the locker room, but don't leave. Their stay in the locker room isn't long.

By the time you have recharged your glass they will have arrived in your area for refreshments. Only the odd one will have changed from her curling outfit.

This, fellas, is just a brief summary of what you're missing. I hope you have a curling club near your home, and I hope you take a trip over to it one night . . . and I dare you to call me a liar after you've watched a Tight-Pants Contest.

BANTAMS DEFEAT MARMORA 7-1

The Bantams travelled to Marmora Sunday, February 1st and came away with a 7-1 victory, after suffering 12-0, 17-2, 9-6, and 4-1 defeats with wins of 10-2 and 9-1.

The Bantams have won three and lost 5 games this year, with goals for, 35 and goals against, 49.

The Bantams deserve your support as they have never quit, although a lot of people seemed to think they could not win a game — Madocers, at that!

On Thursday the Bantams travel to Frankford for the first game of a three-out-of-five series, and then back to Madoc on Saturday, February 7th, for the second game.

Park your snowmobile and spend 50 cents to support your local boys.

INTENSIVE STUDY ON DEER BEHAVIOUR STARTED IN ONTARIO

The Department of Lands and Forests has initiated an intensive study into the behaviour and movement of deer in winter, it was announced in December by the Hon. Rene Brunelle, Minister of Lands and Forests.

The decision to launch the new study follows an exhaustive investigation, completed last spring, into the inter-relationships between deer and wolves.

Scheduled to begin early in January, the study will centre on the area between Georgian Bay and Lake Nipissing, south of the French River. The district is recognized as one of the major deer yarding areas in the province and its natural topography provides favourable conditions for teams of Department biologists assigned to the project.

Commenting on the new study, Mr. Brunelle said, "It is well known that distribution of deer changes from fall to winter and often continues to change as winter progresses. During the time that deer are on their winter range, our experts know that certain favoured areas are occupied continuously, while others are used only sporadically. We feel that there is an increasing need to examine these local fall and winter movements intensively. We believe that a better understanding of the reasons for changes in deer distribution will contribute greatly to the effectiveness of range management procedures and census methods. Obviously, if we can develop answers to some of the reasons for changes in deer distribution, we would know best where to concentrate our deer range management program".

During the in-depth study of deer in their winter habitat, biologists will use a variety of techniques to secure information including:

1. Frequent aerial mapping of track concentrations. Experienced observers can determine distribution of deer tracks quite accurately from Beaver aircraft flying in a systematic basis. A combination of parallel flight lines and more intensive searching will be employed.

2. By repeated observation of individually marked deer. For this purpose deer will be captured in box traps and nets, tagged with visible markers and at least ten will be fitted with small radio transmitters to assist in locating them anytime during the study.

3. Frequent track counts. Ground crews will systematically cover the study area as often as possible to confirm results of aerial surveys especially where tree cover makes aerial observation difficult.

Natural influences will also be measured by use of weather instruments including recording thermometers and wind gauges. Snow stations situated at pertinent locations will indicate new conditions over the winter period. Intensive browse surveys will investigate shelter and available food.

The study will record evidence of disturbance including dog tracks, wolf tracks and human activity and a special effort will be made through observations of marked deer to determine if social influences play any part in distribution and if there is any segregation of deer by age or sex in the study area.

Wildlife biologists who will be working on the study anticipate that it will take three winters' work to produce meaningful results which can then be applied to further improvement of the deer management program in Ontario.

"There are three menaces to safe driving) hic, hike and hug". Quoted by the Ontario Safety League from Typo Graphic.

THE HEART FUND: A UNIQUE HEALTH CAUSE

It is important for everyone to realize that the Heart Fund, conducted here and throughout Canada during February is something more than "just another health drive".

The Heart Fund is uniquely important. Essentially, it is a combined appeal supporting the nationwide fight against a great complex of diseases and disorders — heart attack, stroke, high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, rheumatic fever and inborn heart defects, to mention only a few. Diseases of the heart and circulation, which your Heart Fund dollars help to fight, are responsible for more than 75,000 deaths in Canada each year. That is more than the combined total, resulting from all other diseases and causes of death. In fact, these cardiovascular diseases account for over 50 per cent of all deaths. The heart problem is no distant abstraction. Although national and international in scope, it exists as a painful and costly reality right here in this town. If you have doubts, examine the obituaries which appear in our daily newspapers. You will find that our local mortality experience closely parallels national figures; that, on the average, about half our death notices will mention "heart attack", "stroke", or "heart disease". All too often these terms are applied to family breadwinners in the prime of life — men in the 45 to 65 year age bracket.

There is only one practical way to fight heart disease, namely by supporting your Heart Foundation's balanced programs of research, education and information. You can do this by contributing Heart Fund dollars.

Truly, the Heart Fund deserves a place at the very top of your "giving for health" list. Send your contribution to the Canadian Heart Fund, 247 Davenport Road, Toronto 180.

KIWANIS MAGAZINE WRITES ABOUT MADOC AND PEACE PAGODA

The Village of Madoc received international publicity when, in the November-December issue of the Kiwanis Magazine, circulation 230,000, a full page was given to the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park at Madoc and the contribution of the local Kiwanis members in Madoc and the area in developing this park for international peace.

This should be helpful in bringing more tourists to the area, as a copy of the magazine is mailed to every Kiwanian in the United States and Canada and wherever Kiwanians live throughout the world.

It is estimated by the Department of Tourism and Information that each tourist spends a minimum of $10 in the area for food, accommodation, supplies and gasoline, etc. on each visit.

The contribution of the Kiwanis and to the park chairman, Roy Cadwell, in establishing this centennial Project, could in the years to come, be one of Madoc's most important tourist attractions.

A very cultured person is one who can bore you on any subject.

BUS AND CAR IN MISHAP ON HWY. 7

A bus loaded with passengers ended in the ditch and a car driven by George Quinn, 23, of Ottawa, was emolished near here last week. There were no injuries.

The accident occurred on Highway 7, two miles west of Madoc at about 9:00 p.m. last Wednesday, on a stretch of the highway under construction.

Police said the eastbound bus swerved to avoid a collision and slid off the icy road into the ditch. The bus was driven by Clayton Newell, 39, of Ottawa.

Damage to the bus was estimated at $1,000.

WOOD AS FEED

Two federal government scientists have developed a method to turn wood into a feed similar to hay.

In recent experiments they tested steam-treated poplar wood against medium qualiy hay as roughage for sheep. The results show that, as a source of energy, the two roughages are equal; the trials verify laboratory tests conducted earlier.

ASSESSMENT AFFECTS LOCAL LEVIES

New provincial equalized assessment factors have caused marked changes this year in the local levy assessed against member municipalities in the Moira River Conservation Authority.

The total local levy for the Authority for 1970 has been set at $25,000 ,the same as last year. But, as result of the new assessment factors, the levies of several townships have been sharply increased while others are lower.

Showing the sharpest percentage increase is Madoc Township's levy which jumps from $481 last year to $787 in 1970. Tyendinaga's increases from $261 to $359 and that of Thurlow from $3,426 to $3,774.

On the other hand, the levies of certain other municipalities are less this year. Belleville's Authority levy for 1970 is $14,164 compared with $14,945 last year; Tweed's is down to $686 compared with $805.

Local levies against member municipalities are based on the percentage of their areas within the Moira watershed.

Of the 17 member municipalities, only six are entirely within the watershed. These are Deloro, Elzevir, Hungerford, Madoc Township, Madoc Village and Tweed. Belleville is 61 per cent within the watershed.

Total Authority budget for this year is $124,640. This is made up of $25,000 to be levied against member municipalities; $18,395 as the contribution of chief benefiting municipalities for certain capital projects, and $81,245 in grants.

CONTINUE SCHOOLS IN CONSERVATION

The Moira River Conservation Authority plans to continue its school conservation program at Vanderwater Park this year but will look to the Hastings County School Board for money to purchase needed material.

Mrs. Robin Jeffrey, chairman of the Authority information and education committee, recently told the Authority's inaugural meeting that about $500 would be needed to purchase compasses, snowshoes, and maps so that the Authority could go ahead with its program.

For the past several years, he Authority has conducted a day conservation school at the Vanderwater park for grade six and seven pupils from Belleville and the surrounding area.

However, the Hastings County School Board is also considering the possibility of an outdoor education program taking in the entire county. Whether the county program will get underway this year is still to be decided.

The Authority also expects to continue its maple syrup demonstrations at the Collins sugar bush in the Moira area.

The sugar bush project with its syrup and pancake feature was a big success last year .

But the "big" Authority public relations success of last was said to have been the official opening of the Old O'Hara homestead as a museum attraction.

TRINITY U.C.W.

The general meeting of Trinity U.C.W. was held in the Sunday School rooms on January 27th, with a fair attendance of members.

The President, Mrs. H. Stickwood, opened the meeting with "Thoughts for the New Year" and a prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary, Mrs. J. McGowan. The Treasurer's report, given by Mrs. G. Devolin, showed a substantial bank balance. Several communications were read, including the Presbyterial U.C.W. Annual Meeting to be held in Napanee on February 4th and 5th. Delegates appointed to attend were Mrs. G. Devolin and Mrs. K. Gordon and several members expressed their desire to attend also. Mrs. H. Brintnell centered her devotional service around the United Church symbol, "Live Love", and developed this theme by her interpretation of various selections of Scripture as expressed in, or related to, all areas of society.

Mrs. G. Devolin introduced Mrs. Harry DeClair, the guest speaker of the evening. Mrs. DeClair described her work as teacher of handicrafts at Madoc Manor Nursing Home. She left no doubt in the minds of her listeners that this is a very rewarding and worthwhile project. On display were many of the articles which had been made, and members were asked to donate any material which she might be able to use. Mrs. Don Parks in appropriate costume, gave a humorous monologue entitled, "I May be Sick, but I'm not Selfish". Appreciation was voiced by Miss G. Raney and a social half hour concluded the meeting.

SOVIET TRACTORS ON PRAIRIES?

Russian tractors on Canadian wheat fields: it could happen, according to John Schreiner writing in The Financial Post. Four Russian-built tractors, all of which have been through field tests in Ontario, are on display at this week's Canada Farm and Industrial Equipment Show in Toronto. The display also includes photographs of other models, including a 300-horse power four wheel drive giant; one of the largest tractors made anywhere. The Financial Post writer says the company displaying the machines, Twin Lake Tractors Ltd., of Orillia, plans to import a modest number of Russian tractors for sale this spring in Ontario. The initial order will also include two of the big units for field tests.

RIFLE SHOOT

Despite scattered snow squalls, some very impressive scores were run up at the Madoc District Hunters and Anglers' Shoot last Sunday afternoon. Marked interest was shown in the new point system which went into effect.

Doug Donaldson was the only competitor who came up with a perfect score, chalking up 50 points out of a possible 50. Prize winners at the shoot were:

Round 1, 100 yds., Barney Herrington; Round 2, 100 yds., Mike Quinn Jr.; Round 3., 50 yds., Joe Foley; Round 4, 100 yds., Doug Donaldson; Round 5, 100 yds., Mike Quinn Sr.

Following is the point standing:

1., Doug Donaldson, 50; 2., Lloyd Hicks, 49; 3., Joe Foley, 48; 4., Mike Quinn Sr.; 5., Gerry Donaldson, 46; 6., Elliott Burris, 45; 7., Laveryne Carman, 44.

$18,000 ASKED FOR SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Physical education teachers in Hastings County are calling for a $18,000 shot-in-the-arm for their interschool athletic program.

The future of interschool athletics is in jepardy unless the board of education gives financial support to school teams that compete with other schools for athletic honors, they say.

Wally Beevor, spokesman of county physical education department heads in secondary schools, has presented a brief to the board, asking for a basic grant to each of the seven secondary schools for competitive team sports.

The board concurred in principle. But whether or not the schools get the money depends on the availability of funds in the 1970 project.

Each school on the average, spends about $25,000 to operate its interschool program. The cost results from travel, referees fees, awards, tournament fees and COSSA fees.

In the past, the money was raised from a "head tax" levied by student councils, from fund-raising projects sponsored by the physical education department, and from an annual school board allocation of about $700 to each school.

Because purchase of student council cards is no longer compulsory, council funds available for the athletic program have been depleted.

Department heads and coaches directly involved in the program give 150 to 200 hours a year to each team, and have no time to conduct fund-raising projects, Mr. Beevor said.

Teachers in Hastings County schools give 3,000 to 4,000 hours a year beyond the regular school day for running athletic programs for their students, the brief noted.

"On the average, 400 students in each school participate in the interschool program and all students incur many benefits in terms of school spirit and becoming knowlegeable spectators", the teachers' brief read.

In asking the board to foot the complete interschool athletics bill, he proposed a basic grant of $2,500 to each of the seven secondary schools in the county. For Centre Hastings School at Madoc, Bancroft school and B.C.I. in Belleville, "which have additional expenditures, such as travelling, rental of playing fields and transportation for home games", he proposed an additional $625 for each school. The total annual cost would be $18,375.

"If the board said no to our request, we would probably try to go out and raise the money", Mr. Beevor told the board.

In discussion of the proposal, trustee Mrs. Jean Hutchison of Trenton questioned the value of some high school sponsored sports, football in particular.

She asked about the number of injuries incurred during football competitions and mused: "One wonders at the worth of it medically".

"Football is the most popular sport in the district and in all North America", replied Mr. Breevor. "More people watched the Super Bowl than the moon shot".

"A fitting commentary on our society", rejoined Mrs. Hutchison.

Trustee Ralph Weaver of Trenton suggested the board should review the merits of the academic awards it sponsors "and consider them in comparison with this", as the 1970 budget is set.

AUTHORITY COUNTS WATERSHED ASSETS

The Moira River Conservation Authority is fast approaching the category of big business!

According to the auditor's report submitted at the recent inaugural Authority meeting at Cannifton, the Authority has capital assets (conservation areas, historical sites and special schemes) valued at $597,734 with another $110,000 invested in reforestation properties.

Most expensive of the Authority's special schemes is the Deerock Lake dam in Kaladar Township, constructed last year at a cost of $271,000, including the necessary clear cutting for the dam reservoir.

The Lower Moira control dam is valued at $41,000; the Deloro dam at $51,000; the Lingham Lake dam and reservoir at $22,000 and the Stoco Lake dam at $27,000.

The O'Hara Mill Conservation area including the pioneer sawmill and original family residence is valued at $35,000; the Colonel Vanderwater area at $76,000; the Price area at Actinolite, $9,000 and the Thurlow wildlife area, $6,000.

The Authority now owns approximately 17,000 acres of reforestation and conservation area property and has planted between 2,500,00 and 3,000,000 trees.

Due to the rapidly rising cost of marginal land, the Authority has purchased little or no reforestation property in the past two years. Authority members are now considering scattered acreage and consolidating larger tracts.

However, there is a difference of opinion on this proposal. Bill Hiscock of the Tweed Lands and Forests Department said that his Department did not care whether reforesation property was in small or large blocks.

Most of us keep wishing for things we don't have — but after all what else is there to wish for?

See a psychiatrist at once

DEAR DORIS — I fear riding in a car. I panic and force back a scream when a car approaches us, fearing that it will make a sudden move and crash into us. I jump and go white. My husband has scolded, laughed, reasoned, comforted me, but it's no good.

The last accident I was in was seven years ago with my parents (I was 12). I became hysterical when I saw my Dad's bleeding face. And the doors jammed so I couldn't escape. This accident did not leave me afraid of cars.

Only for the past year have I been so afraid. I feel as if I am living on borrowed time before a car will finally hit us, and I feel helpless to prevent it.

Shaky

DEAR SHAKY — The fear is abnormal. It simply must date back to what happened seven years ago, even though you kept it buried for a long, long time. You had a delayed reaction; probably a worse one than if someone had helped you open up the whole thing at the time.

Your help — and you need help — must come from a person skilled in such things; a psychiatrist. Get your family doctor to refer you to one.

DEAR DORIS — Is there any school in Canada which teaches a person the care of animals? I'm not talking about learning the role of a veterinary surgeon. That takes university.

But I love animals, and would like to make a career out of working with them. If I get through high school — with a struggle — I could afford one or two years of further training, but not a whole college course.

Animal Lover

DEAR ANIMAL LOVER — How about a job as assistant to a veterinarian? There's a two-year course which might just be the thing for you. It is developed for the purpose of providing a right-hand man for an animal doctor. You would learn how to help with testing, treatment and diagnosis of animal diseases and general care of animals.

For details write to the Western Ontario Agricultural School, Ridgetown, Ont., and ask about the course for Animal Health Technicians.

DEAR DORIS — I am a bundle of nerves. This seems to happen whenever I get tired or people drop in without warning. Other times too. My husband says I am irritable and that it must be my time of life. Is it? I am only 41.

Jitters

DEAR JITTERS — It could be. When women move into those middle years there are glandular changes that do strange things to dispositions. But they are temporary, praise be!

My leaflet, "Facing Forty," explains the menopause and its symptoms and can make it easier to live with; a copy is on its way to you. It is available to other readers for 10 cents and a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR DORIS — 1. If a husband dies without a will, what legal rights has the wife in Canada?

2. A son of my husband's by a former wife, seems to think that if Joe died he would have the right to walk in and take over this home. Would he? He has never helped us in any way — either with money or work — while our three children have always been helpful.

In Doubt

DEAR IN DOUBT — Inheritance legislation is provincial, but in every province the widow is the first person taken care of, and has a right to live on in the jointly-owned house. In Ontario she receives the first $20,000; and the rest (if any) is divided among the children.

But the urgency of your husband's making a will and defining the whole thing can't be overstressed. Even if he is ill, get something down on paper. Do it, and save yourself a headache later.

Church job big, thankless

DEAR DORIS — When I become president of our church club, I would like to make them interested in what goes on at the meeting, instead of them talking to one another about someone's appendix or how to make jams and jellies in the middle of the business session.

At the end of my term I'd like to hand this thankless job to someone else with a feeling of satisfaction. What can you tell me about being a good president?

Inexperienced But Keen

DEAR I. BUT K. — It's a big job to put in a small nutshell, but here goes:

1. Involve them. The more members actually doing something about the meeting, the fewer will be having a jam session.

2. Read up on how to conduct a meeting. I'm sending you the names of two good books about it.

3. Have regular executive meetings so that program plans are well thought out in advance.

4. Have a project. Do something for somebody else.

5. President presides. A president does not lay down the law. A president draws out the opinions and ideas of all persons present and pays serious attention to everyone's ideas.

6. If possible, have all important meetings reported either in the church newsletter or the local press. I am sending you my leaflet on Pointers in Reporting Meetings (Available to other readers for 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

DEAR DORIS — Do you have any knowledge concerning the drug now being perfected in the United States which can raise the intelligence quotient?

B. M.

DEAR B.M. — Perhaps you've been reading about the work being done on a drug which the scientists hope will eventually be used to improve the minds of senile people. This is still years away, even if it works.

And it is something quite different from improving the intelligence level of anybody. We are born with certain potentials, and develop through education and experience. But each has his own particular and special talents and limits.

DEAR DORIS — We kept our son's little boy a month while they went holidaying last summer. When they came back they left us sitting in the house and went off to see her mother. The next time we visited them she went to bed and watched TV at 8 p.m.

Then we were invited over and at 9 p.m. they went to a party without asking us to baby-sit or anything; just took off.

So we haven't been back since. We never go uninvited and that's been our year. We helped them at every turn. Now we are dropped like hot potatoes.

My husband feels we are not wanted and refuses to go back to their place. He thinks we have just been suckers.

Brushed Off

DEAR BRUSHED OFF — Better give them the absent treatment.

Some young people feel they can call the shots about just anything — when people shall and shall not visit them, how much they will share their children, and anything else not listed in the Ten Commandments. It may take several years of struggle before they catch on to what a parent knows all along, that unselfish service is hard to come by.

Your son is still in a state of needing to assert his independence and run his own show.

Your cue is to turn to other absorbing interests, much as it all hurts, right now. If you do it right, new contacts can be exciting.

MADOC CO-OP. HAS ANOTHER VERY SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The annual meeting and banquet of the Madoc Co-Operative Association was held in the cafeteria of Centre Hastings Secondary School on Wednesday evening of last week, with a large number in attendance.

Following a turkey dinner served by Mrs. Kincaid and her staff, Stanley Thompson, President of the Co-Operative, chaired the meeting, which revealed that the Association had another very successful year. Gross receipts for the year ending August 31st were $399,530, as compared to $414,467 in 1968, but the net savings before patronage returns were $17,671, as compared to $10,343 the previous year.

Mr. Joe Foley reported for the Directors and in his remarks referred to the renovations that had been made at the mill during the year and the purchase of a bulk truck to handle bulk feed which he said was a big advantage to the farmers who purchased feed this way.

Wayne Reid, Manager of the Co-Op., spoke briefly, thanking the directors, patrons and staff for their co-operation.

The following directors were elected by ballot for a three-year term: Gordon Chapman, Murney Bateman and Don McKinnon. Other directors are Joe Foley, Cecil Holland, Doug Francis and Gordon McCoy. Officers are Stanley Thompson, President; George Graham, Vice-President; Earl Sager, Secretary; and Wayne Reid, Manager.

Entertainment was provided during the evening by Brian Cosby, who rendered several numbers on his accordian. A humorous recitation by Murney Bateman was enjoyed by those present.

The guest speaker was Mr. Maurice Harvey of Brighton, who spoke briefly, stressing the importance of co-operatives. He and Mrs. Harvey showed a program of beautiful coloured slides. Mr. Harvey is a qualified photographer and his pictures of nature lore taken in our Ontario Provincial Parks were exceptionaly well received.

Lucky number prizes were won by Mrs. Jim Spry, Mrs. Francis Tobin and Ted Sexsmith.

CANADIAN TIRE STORE CHANGES OWNERSHIP

The Canadian Tire Associate Store in Madoc changed hands this week. The new proprietor is Mr. Ken Nielsen, who comes here from the Kitchener-Waterloo area.

Mr. Nielsen told the Review that the business will be conducted in the same manner and under the same policies as adopted by Mr. Lawton.

Mr. Nielsen is married and has a two-year-old son. Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen will be residing in the apartment formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs Lawton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawton have left Madoc and, following a vacation in the Bahamas, will reside in Georgetown, where they will operate the Canadian Tire Store there.

KIAWANIANS RECEIVE REPORT ON COMMUNITY DRUG ALERT PROGRAM

The members of the Kiwanis Club of Madoc have just received a report from a special Co-ordinating Committee dealing with the use and abuse of Drugs. This Committee was formed on January 14th, 1970, and is composed of representative members of various community agencies and the Department of Addiction Studies at the Peterborough Civic Hospital in Peterborough, Ontario.

The purpose of this Committee was to co-ordinate, if possible, all the efforts of those welfare agencies, centres, service clubs, individuals, etc. boards of education, rehabilitation who are trying to solve the social and drug problems of the young people of today.

To this end, this Drug Co-ordinating Committee, which consists of Dr. Wallace Reed, Chairman of the Addiction Research Centre at the above hospital, and five representatives of various groups who were involved in these social problems, compiled the suggestions and problems that were presented to them and after a great deal of study, have published their findings in their first public report.

The main points of this report have been extracted and they read as follows:-

1. The forming of a proposed 'Community Drug Program' was discussed and accepted.

2. The main function of this group should be to co-ordinate community endeavours.

3. It was also agreed that the Co-ordinating Committee should indicate

The Critic:-
My father says the paper that he reads ain't put up right
He finds a lot of fault, he does, perusing it at night;
He says there ain't a single thing in it worth while to read
And it doesn't print the kind of stuff people need:
He tosses it aside and says it's strictly "on the bum",
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.
He reads about the weddin's and he snorts like all get out,
He reads the social doings with a most derisive shout,
He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan;
He says of information, it don't contain a crumb,
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.
He's always first to grab it and he reads plumb clear through,
He doesn't miss an item or a want ad, that is true;
He says "they don't know what we want, them durned newspaper guys,
I'm going to take a day sometime and go and put them wise;
Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb",
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT PLANS TO CONTINUE TAX REDUCTION

The Ontario Government recently announced the continuation of its Residential Property Tax Reduction Program.

Municipal Affairs Minister, Darcy McKeough, said: "Although there have been a few problem areas, the program has worked well since it was introduced in 1968. Research shows that, in the present circumstances, this program is the most effective way available to the Government for directly relieving the burden of property taxes on homeowners and tenants in the Province".

The Minister added that "if a more flexible system of personal income tax can be introduced in the future, it is possible that the burden of propery tax could be mitigated through a closer integration of the personal income tax and property taxes".

Experience has shown that the "basic shelter exemption" as recommended by the Ontario Committee on Taxation tended to give proportionately more relief to those areas where property values and the level of local taxes are low, Mr. McKeough said.

To provide more equitable assistance, particularly to residents of municipalities where the average tax burden is highest, the method of calculating the amount of the reduction has been changed. In future, the tax reduction will be calculated by using a simple two-part formula. For 1970, the tax reduction will be a standard sum of $30 plus 10 per cent of the average residential tax paid by householders in that municipality in 1969.

Mr. McKeough said the basic sum of $30 represents a standard contribution by the Government towards the cost of all municipal services, while the 10 per cent of the average taxes paid gives a greater relief to the residents of municipalities with relatively high tax rates.

"The majority of taxpayers will receive a greater benefit in 1970 than they did in 1969. However, there will be some taxpayers whose tax reduction in 1969 was considerably more than the rebate due in 1970 under the new formula", he said.

"In order to avoid an undue reduction in the amount of the payment, it is prosposed that no taxpayer will lose more than $5 in the rebate, as compared to 1969. Similarly, it has been decided to place a ceiling of $15 on the amount of increase in tax reduction payable to any taxpayer. These proposals are based on reductions for a full year. Proportionate adjustments will be made for householders entitled to the benefit for part of the year only", Mr. McKeough said.

As in 1969, no taxpayer will receive a tax reduction exceeding 50 per cent of his taxes for any property.

Under the program, total payments will increase by nine per cent over 1969 to an estimated $136 million in 1970.

The program will continue to be administered through local municipalities. Mr. McKeough said that he expects most municipalities will have made their calculations by the end of March. Special arrangements will be made with his Department for areas such as Niagara and Thunder Bay in which the municipal structure was substantially changed during the preceding year.

To be eligible under the tax reduction system, a tenant or homeowner must occupy a separately assessed dwelling.

Homeowners who make regular payments for taxes to their mortgage holder will, as in prior years, have these payments adjusted to give effect to the tax reduction.

Tenants will continue to receive their reductions from their landlords. Landlords must pass the reductions on to tenants on or before December 31st, 1970. Tenants who move in or out of an apartment during the year will receive a proportionate amount of the reduction based upon the length of tenancy.

WINTER FUN FOR EVERYONE AT TWEED WINTER CARNIVAL

Winter fun for everyone is the theme of Tweed's Winter Carnival planned for February 13th, 14th and 15th, 1970, and that is what visitors will find during the carnival weekend according to Chamber of Commerce members, who sponsor this annual event.

A torchlight parade down Tweed's main street at 7:30 p.m. Friday night followed by hockey at the Community Centre, where Marmora and Napanee will meet in an O.H.A. Junior "C" Playoff, will provide the opening night program along with two dances, one modern and one old tyme.

There will be two figure skating shows this year, a matinee on Saturday afternoon and a night performance at 8:00 p.m. Both shows will feature outstanding amateur skaters from Toronto.

In past years, the Saturday night show has been a Carnival highlight. This year's show promises to be as good as any in the past.

The Kiwanis Pancake Breakfast will start the Sunday activities at 9:00 a.m. Last year, about 1,000 persons attended the breakfast. This year, the Club members are preparing for an even larger attendance, with plenty of pancakes, sausages and local maple syrup for everyone.

Snowmobile races on Stoco Lake will be the feature of the Sunday afternoon program, with races for the Hastings County Council along with races for both stock and modified machines.

Other Sunday events include hockey at the Community Centre, along with snowmobile rides and sleigh rides at Stoco Lake.

A carnival of this types does much to break the winter monotony and add a little warmth to an otherwise chilly season of the year, according to the Chamber of Commerce president, David Morton, who adds that his organization is inviting everyone within driving distance to Tweed to join in the Carnival weekend activities on February 13th, 14th and 15th.

IN MEMORIAM

WOOD — In loving memory of our dear father, Herbert John, who passed away February 13th, 1969.
In tears we saw you sinking
We watched you fade away,
Our hearts were almost broken,
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peacefully free from pain,
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again.
Sadly missed by wife, Lottie, and family.

KIWANIANS RECEIVE REPORT ON DRUG ALERT PROGRAM

youth members.

4. It was also agreed that, under no circumstances, were names of those being treated to be released to the public or police.

5. The medical aspects of the problem of drug use were discussed, and in particular it was considered regretable that there had been no public statement from the medical profession generally, on the problem of drug use, in which they, the doctors, are vitally involved.

6. A "Crisis Intervention Centre" or building for studying the problems of youth, including drug use, was discussed. The committee agreed there was a great need for such a centre and plans are now being made for such a facility. It is hoped it will be in use within the next six months.

7. The need for a short-term accommodation (maybe just overnight) for the young people who are experiencing severe social problems was also discussed. It was thought that such a centre as the Intervention Centre could also be used in this regard.

Under the important heading of "Education", it was agreed that educational resources should be made available to all those who wished to take part in such a drug alert program.

It is at this point that we, as Kiwanians, are ready and willing to serve on a Community Educational Program.

Finally, the report of this vital Drug Committee states that the main purpose of the Community Educational Program is as follows:- "To create an awareness of drugs, their effects, their disadvantages and dangers, both personal and social, so that if a person wishes to use or try drugs, he or she should be aware of the consequences — personal, social and legal — for their actions".

The report concludes by pointing out that this Committee will not only provide vital information to the public, but will also provide help to anyone that may need it.

We, the Kiwanis Club of Madoc, are looking towards this Co-ordinating Committee at the Civic Hospital of Peterborough for our guidance, so as to be better able to serve in our community.

PORK president re-elected

It was a close squeak, but I retained my position as President of PORK (Parents Of Rotten Kids) at the annual election of officers held in my study recently.

I was given the honor of leading, once again, this progressive and widespread organization, with members in every town and city in Canada, because my daughter quit university after one term.

We now have the situation of our son, who dropped out two years ago, and dropped back in this year, urging his kid sister not to be a slob, a ninny, a quitter, a lazy bum, just as we urged him when he did it.

The reason for Kim's decision is rather fuzzy in our eyes, as she wasn't failing, and even seemed to like some aspects of it. But I think the main reason was that, after 13 years of school and piano lessons, she had simply had enough, and wanted to find out what real life is all about.

I haven't figures (but I'll bet they're shocking) of the number of bright young people who quit college in their first year. The reasons are obvious. It is boring, it doesn't live up to their expectations, or they can't stand the new freedom and fall behind, hopelessly, in their work.

It's a bitter blow for parents with high hopes, especially for those who couldn't afford it themselves and want something better for their children. There are tears and exhortations and beating of breasts. There is the rational approach, the plaintive approach, the thunderous condemnation.

But you might as well try to reason with John Calvin or an oak stump as with a stubborn 18-year-old who has made up his or her mind about something. The favorite expression is that they want to "find" themselves, to learn to live in a world that is not cotton-wrapped or institutionalized. This argument brings ulcers, apoplexy and fallen arches of the soul to parents.

And I have some sympathy for the kids. As long as they're not my own. They want to get out of the ratrace of mortgages, taxes and striving for security in which they see their grey-faced parents engaged.

They are simply sick of a system with a stick at one end and a carrot, in the form of a piece of paper, at the other. For some kids, the system is fine. And I especially admire those who, without too much natural ability, and practically no money, haul themselves through school by their bootstraps, on plain hard work.

For others, a minority, the system is rotten, and to some extent I agree with them. They want a simpler, cleaner way of life.

It's a tough decision for them. Often, it takes more courage to quit than to conform. They hate to hurt their baffled parents. They are labelled as lazy punks and dropouts. They are told they can't face reality. They are confronted by nagging, bullying, threats and bribes, along with their own feelings of guilt. They often become emotionally disturbed, or pretty tough on the surface.

But there's one thing parents must do. They must stop trying to live through their kids, especially when the latter are old enough to work, to marry and to live their own lives.

Parents should do the same — live their own lives. They should go on loving their offspring, if possible. They should help them, if they need help. But they should stop trying to manipulate them, to mold them into a design they think is the right one.

Please don't think I'm defending all dropouts. Some of them are lazy bums, and quitters. But I can't help wondering what I should do, if I were 18 today.

When I went to university, it was a way of getting off the treadmill, of escaping a dull job and a limited future and a life of diapers, and boiled cabbage, and hamburg four times a week, and never enough money.

Today's affluent kids are getting off another type of treadmill in a different way. They have my sympathy, but my heart bleeds for those who won't make it, and discover, too late, that they have exchanged a treadmill for a squirrel cage.

IN MEMORIAM

HOLLAND — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Ward Holland, who passed away February 17th, 1969:

Those whom we love go out of sight
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just in all his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

Ever remembered by wife, Annie, daughter, Ruby, and son, Kenneth.

MADOC EAGERLY AWAITS VISIT OF 33 STUDENTS

Brotherhood will soon be more than just a word in Madoc.

It will become a living experience for elementary school children in the Village and their parents when 33 Negro children from a Washington DC school arrive this Sunday, February 22nd, to spend a week.

The Washington sixth graders, ranging in age from 10 to 13, will be accompanied by their teacher, Jay Cohen, his wife, and three parents, representing the Parent-Teacher Association of their school, the W. B. Patterson Elementary School.

While they are in the Madoc District, the Washington children will be billeted with families of Madoc pupils. To give the visitors as many experiences as possible, some have been placed on farms — the first chance they will have had to sample rural life.

Plans now call for the Grade 6 through 8 pupils and their visitors at the Madoc school to occupy the large open area classroom recently built at the school.

Three hundred children will share the room with eight teachers. The Washington teachers will join the Madoc staff for team teaching during the week.

"The teachers' job will be to correlate the interest of the students in as many subject areas as possible", said principal John Murphy, in announcing the visit. "The visitors and their hosts will go by bus to Ottawa February 25th, so that the children may compare the two capital cities. Other than short excursions to nearby points of interest, the rest of the week will be spent directly at school. The time table and program will be extremely flexible".

Excitement is running high at the Madoc school as the host group prepare for the visit. The Madoc and Washington pupils are corresponding and doing a major study of the geography of the area separating Madoc and Washington. They have also learned each other's national anthem.

The practical venture into brotherhood is the outgrowth of a 1966 visit made by 40 teachers from the Centre Hastings area to Washington.

They spent their professional development day that year in a tour of Washington schools and learned of the dearth of knowledge there concerning Canada. The visit of the Negro children to Madoc is an outgrowth of the Washington excursion and the correspondence that developed afterward.

"The invitation was extended to the Washington group as part of the Ontario Department of Education's 'project school to school", in conjunction with International Education Year, 1970", said Mr. Murphy. "In this project, schools in Ontario are twinned with schools in other parts of the world. One Grade 7 class at Madoc Public School has been twinned with a Grade 7 class in Port of Spain, Trinidad. Other pupils felt they would like to have visitors from some other country. Washington was chosen so that we might return the cordial welcome we received in 1966."

"The community response has been terrific", said Mr. Murphy. "We have had people telephoning us to offer their services and equipment for winter sports activities for the pupils. Sleigh and snowmobile rides are scheduled to give the southern children a sample of traditional Canadian winter fun."

The Madoc and District Home and School Association is planning a social evening February 23rd as an official welcome for the visitors.

Although the Hastings County Board of Education and its administration is solidly behind the principal's brotherhood scheme, there is no financial involvement. The Washington group is paying its own transportation expenses, and the costs in Madoc are a volunteer community matter.

Danger signs, warning snowmobilers, have recently been placed at Moira Lake near the bridges, where the ice covering channels is not safe for travel. The signs were erected by some energetic members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The lake is being used for snowmobiling by many who are unfamiliar with conditions there and the signs are a warning to all to keep away from this area.

C.H.S.S. STUDENTS TO REPRESENT COUNTY IN SAFETY QUIZ

Something new in interschool competition is under way in Hastings and Prince Edward County secondary schools.

Teams of technical students from six schools have been sharpening their wits and their knowledge of industry safety for quizes run off by the Belleville-Trenton section of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

Semi-final playoffs were held at Moira Secondary School Monday night, with the final section competition scheduled Wednesday at Moira to determne the county winners. The team winning the section competition will go to Toronto to meet teams from across the province and compete for the Ontario championship.

The purpose of the contest is to engender interest in safety for the technical high school students, by involving them in team competition.

During the fall, all students tried a series of writing safety tests conducted by their teachers in their schools. From the highest scorers, a team of four students was chosen for each school, with a teacher as coach.

For the last two weeks, the school teams have competed against each other in oral quizzes moderated by Mrs. Kenneth Kerr, general secretary of the Belleville District IAPA.

The quiz sheets and questions for the inter-school team matches were prepared by the Ontario head office of IAPA and are standard throughout the province.

Facing off Wednesday night in the panel quiz at Moira were Centre Hastings versus Prince Edward Collegiate. The winner will represent Hastings and Prince Edward Counties in Toronto.

The successful panel representing Centre Hastings is comprised of Clinton Gaebel, Eric Johnson, David Mullet and John Pigden. Grant Stapley, Assistant Head of the Technical Department, is the coach of this team.

The accident prevention association has put up cash prizes for competitors to make the contest attractive to participants. The school champions have already won $10 for each team member and coach. The winners on Monday picked up another prize of $15 each for the winning team and coach.

Wednesday night's winning team will gather in $25 for each of the four participants and their coach.

Members and coach of the Ontario champion team will take $100 each home from the Toronto competition.

A unique feature of the panel quizzes is "practical demonstration" questions, in which the teams are faced with mock-ups of industrial situations and equipment and asked to discuss and demonstrate the safest course of action in each simulated event.

KIWANIANS HEAR OF ARCHAEOLOGY DISCOVERY

The Kiwanis Club of Madoc heard a most interesting and intriguing story of the finding of Indian relics of pottery, smoking pipe, flint stones, arrow heads, etc., on the farm belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, which is located some twelve miles west of Campbellford, in the County of Northumberland, Ontario.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Richardson, a very charming and competent teacher on the staff of the Centre Hastings Secondary School, exhibited some excellent coloured slides of her home and farm, together with the digging that was being done by a party of archaeologists from the Trent University.

The story started when the archaeologists visited the Richardson's farm, as they had reason to believe that an ancient Indian village was buried there. Their belief was soon justified for they found fragments of clay vessells, flint stones, etc, within 8 inches of the top soil. They also found the location of the village granary together with the location of the poles that supported the Indian long house.

The prize of their digging, however, was a garden bean. This bean had been buried so long that it had been carbonized. In other words, the vegetable bean had, over a long period of time, been converted into a piece of carbon. It was explained how the archaeologist, with the aid of a radio-activity measuring device, could determine the age of the carbonized bean, which in turn would date the time at which the people lived in this area.

It was interesting to think of the people that lived in this area some generations ago as being the ancestors of the present-day Indian, for we could, in our imagination, see them travelling and hunting in the area of the Richardson farm, which is but three miles from the Trent River.

All in all, these important findings gave us a definite link with the people of the past.

It would seem that the Kiwanians of Madoc have also a definite link, not only with the past, but also with the present generation of Indians, for they have received a letter of thanks for their offer to send used text books to the various Indian schools and libraries in Northern Ontario.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Richardson for her most interesting and informative talk on the archaeologists findings on her farm at Campbellford.

PLAYOFFS AHEAD FOR TWINS HOCKEY

The Twins closed out their hockey schedule, with two victories over Napanee, winning 8-3 last Wednesday and 7-2 in Tweed on Friday the 13th.

The season of hard games, long trips and hard and long practises will all come to a head as the Twins now enter the Eastern Ontario playdowns and a chance for a possible Ontario crown. The season has not always been so good for the men in charge, as first the team had to change name and location because of insufficient home boys out for the club. But, as in previous years, Glen, Tor and Ken have overcome the hardships. They have added a new helper this week, Ab Reid, from Madoc, and his help has come at a very much needed time.

In Napanee on Wednesday, the Twins, with Blayne Reynolds in goal, just over-powered the powerful Napanee squad. Scoring was led by Dale Loucks and Les Pyear, with 2 goals, and singles went to McGregor, Russ Hagerman, Elvin Petherwick and Bill Bennett, who lead a very powerful attack.

On Friday at Tweed, in Carnival atmosphere and before a large crowd, the Twins played a real aggressive game with 17 penalties to 12 for Napanee. The scoring was led by Russ Hagerman, with four goals, and singles went to Ralph Francis, Fred Tanner and Dale Loucks and so the Northern boys now enter a best of seven series with the same Napanee squad for the Eastern title. The first game was in Napanee last night and they meet here on Friday, February 20th, then back to Napanee on the 25th and home on Friday the 27th, the next game here and the sixth in Napanee. The seventh is to be in Madoc, the date to be announced later.

ST. PETER'S WOMEN'S CLUB

The February meeting of St. Peters Womens Club was held at the home of Mrs. Catharine Weaver and was opened by the President, Mrs. Vera Hill, with the reading of a poem.

Miss Doreen Connor conducted the devotional service. She read an article entitled, "Through Faith We Understand", and the scripture passage, Hebrew 11, verses 1 to 13. All joined in singing the hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee". Miss Connor concluded the worship service with prayer.

Mrs. Hill presided over the business discussion. The Secretary's report was given by Mrs. Sheila Matchett and the Treasurer's report by Mrs. Weaver.

Mrs. Pauline Tozer described the organization called "World Vision", which sponsors interdenominational services throughout the world. They take care of 35,000 orphans in 19 countries, also widows, handicapped children, medical centres and countless other services. It was decided to send $26 to this worthwhile organization.

Mrs. Mary Trotter introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Harry DeClair, who is in charge of occupational therapy at Kelly's Nursing Home. She teaches crafts to about 15 of the 35 patients three afternoons a week. She had found this work very rewarding as it has helped to relieve their tensions, inspired confidence and overcome their loneliness as well as giving strength to their hands. She had a display of crafts done by the men. Mrs. DeClair stressed a need for volunteer helpers and materials. She also mentioned that it might be a good idea to form an auxiliary for the home.

Mrs. Reta Pitts thanked the speaker and Mrs. Aleatha Woods thanked the hostess.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Matchett and Mrs. Dorothea Armstrong.

The March meeting is to be held on Tuesday evening, March 3rd, at the home of Mrs. Daisy Bateman.

Agricultural Society Annual Meeting

The Madoc Agricultural Society held their annual meeting on Tuesday, February 4th, in the Madoc Council Chambers. There was a good attendance of directors and members. The Ladies' Division was represented by Mrs. Leonard Trotter, President, Mrs. Allan Franks, Secretary, and Mrs. Francis Tobin, a director.

President Carman Downey, in his address reported a very successful year. This was partly due to the favourable weather which resulted in a record gate receipt of $4,327. Credit also goes to directors and members who co-operated during the year in preparations for the fair. He expressed thanks for this co-operation, which assisted him in carrying his responsibility.

Treasurer Raeburn Robinson reviewed and explained the financial statement. The gate receipts, concession revenue and donations were up from the previous year, as were the total prize awards which were increased by over $1,300.

A report from each department was received and most of these showed an increase over 1968. The number of entries in the horse divisions were down slightly, but the prize awards were up from last year. The Hayes Classification was adopted for all cattle showing this year, and this resulted in dairy breed entries being increased about 50 per cent, with prize money of $1,427 being paid, compared to $350 in 1968. The beef breed entries were of excellent quality and received awards of $585, which was up from $285 the previous year. The swine exhibit was down this year, due to the fact one regular competitor was unable to be present. The number of sheep shown increased about 45 per cent, with new exhibitors taking part. Agricultural products were on a par with former years. Cheese entries were lower, but the displays were very attractive. The Ladies' Division deserve a great deal of credit in the attractive arrangement of the slightly increased number of entries.

On the last day of the fair, the Junior Department members, under the able leadership of their leaders provided an excellent program for a large number of spectators. There were 24 4-H Clubs, with about 225 members from all parts of the county participating. The money paid in awards in this department was over $1,200.

The total number of exhibitors were 130, with 1,680 for competition, which received $5,600 in prizes.

Three field crop competitions were sponsored during the year and these will be open for members again in 1970.

The Society decided to revert back to a two-day fair on September 25th and 26th, 1970.

The drawing match, which has been a very interesting feature these last 3 years on Friday evening, will be continued and all other events will be conducted on Saturday, the 26th.

The President called on Mr. Philo Harris, a Past President, to conduct the election of officers for 1970, which resulted as follows:- Past President, Harold Harris; President, Carman Downey; 1st Vice President, Clarence Farrow; 2nd Vice President, David Franks; Treasurer, Raeburn Robinson; Secretary, Francis Tobin; Auditors, Percy Rowe, Frank Downey; Directors, Delbert Carman, Ken Holland, Philo Harris, Ernest Holland, Allen Ketcheson, John Thompson, James Miller, Cecil Woods Dr. Moore; Associate Directors, Doug Francis, George Harris, Fred Stewart, Ed Sexsmith, Wm. Stewart, Elliott Burris, Elmer Wood, Allan Thompson, Gordon Chapman, Ross Moorcroft, Cecil Holland, E. F. Meraw, Roy Rollins, Edward Tobin, Harold Tokely, John Murphy, Barton Haggerty, Tom Burnside, Grant Ketcheson, Harley Blackburn, Doug Pigden, Lorne Donly, David Foley, Wm. Bateman, Roy Tokely, Laurie Trotter, Arnold Empey, Doug Wood, Harry Govier, Irwin McQuire, Don Deline, Carl Fitzgerald, Keith Hubbs, Percy Holland, Oria Reid, Bob Bateman, David Armstrong, Leslie Blakely.

President Downey resumed the chair and thanked the members for the confidence placed in him and appealed for the same co-operation as in the past to make the 1970 fair better than ever.

The meeting adjourned and lunch was served by the ladies present.

The members discussed leisure time and crafts for achievement day. The leaders demonstrated making stuffed animals, huck weaving and knitting.

At the second meeting, the discussion was on the art of reading, travelling and appreciation of music.

Each of the members brought a book and told of what it was about.

The next meeting is planned for Tuesday, February 17th, 1970.

COOPER 4-H HOMEMAKING CLUB

RECREATION COMMITTEE MEETING

It didn't happen fifty years ago. It didn't happen 25 years ago. It happened Thursday, February 5th, 1970, at Madoc Council Chambers. What, you say, Charlie Brown? Why the February meeting of the Madoc Recreation Committee, of course. Who are they, you say? People, Charlie Brown. People who are interested in what happens in your town. People who didn't sit home in front of the T.V. and moan about nothing to do. Busy people. Ordinary people. All the members couldn't make it out, but those who were there included such notables as Harry Roscoe, Doug Heard, Rev. Jim Thompson, Bev Keller, Ruth Burnside, Ray Binch, and Terry Pigden. What do they do, you say, Charlie Brown. Well ... ah ... er — oh yes. Well, if you remember last year they started the ball rolling for such organizations as the Skating Club, organized and supervised the training of supervisors for the kiddies in the park last summer, opened and ran the "Crimson Crypt" Dance Hall for teenagers, organized and were bruised in the Donkey Baseball game (thanks to Ray Twiddy) and other things long forgotten.

This meeting began the year with a flying start, but with the President, Arnold Ross, called away to work, it was moved by Terry Pigden and seconded by Ray Binch that Harry Roscoe be elected Vice-President. The vote was unanimous and Vice-President Harry chaired the meeting. The last meetings' minutes were read and adopted.

What are they going to do for you this year, Charlie Brown? Well, being only eight years old, you're a little young for the Senior Citizen's Organization but wait a couple of years, you never know!

Mr. Don Maddox of the Ontario Department of Education Youth and Recreation Branch was present to assist the Committee in getting a local Senior Citizens' group going. Since the object was to put the vast resources of the older group in Madoc and surrounding area to work on their own group, it was decided to contact possible people interested and assist them in organizing the Club. A pilot group will meet in the Council Chambers February 19th to organize a founding meeting. Watch out, Charlie Brown, these Senior Citizens aren't slackers — you may get trampled in the rush. Mr. Maddox agreed to meet and advise them.

And if you're a little short on cash this week, Charlie, you might be interested to know that Ruth Burnside suggested that the Committee investigate setting up a used clothing centre in town. By the way, Charlie Brown, don't let this Senior Citizens thing fool you. In this space age, youth is displayed as the real go-getters, the doers, the involved generation, but sit back in front of your window and see who gets more action, see who gets the job done. You may be surprised!

ST. PETER'S W.M.S.

Mrs. Carl Wallace was hostess for the February meeting of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society. There was an attendance of thirteen. The President opened the meeting by reading the Hymn, "Go Labour On".

The first Scripture Lesson, John 6: 35 - 40, was read by Mrs. Tozer, followed by the Hymn, "Break Now the Living Bread". Mrs. Field Allan offered Prayer.

During the business period, it was announced the World Day of Prayer would be held in the Anglican Church on March 6th.

Three members had attended the Presbyterial meeting held recently in St. Columba Church, Belleville. Mrs. Tozer gave a very interesting and informative report.

The second Scripture Lesson, Matt. 27:32 - 35 was read by Mrs. Deline. The Hymn, "The Saving Body for All Men Broken", was repeated. The Hymns used for this program were ones that had been taken from Chinese Christian Hymnals and translated into English.

The study book for 1970, "China in Change", was introduced by Mrs. Allan, convener of the program. The first lesson, "China's Transitional Century, 1850 - 1950", was presented, thus helping us to understand why China is a Communist regime and why its leaders act as they do.

Mrs. Blakely read a selection about the churches in China. From an article in the record, "Christianity in Red China To-Day", she told about the disappearing churches.

The meeting closed with prayer.

The hostess and her assistants served refreshments.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the many friends and relatives for flowers, cards and letters and to those who called on me while I was a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

BRADY — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Jesse Brady, who died February 23, 1969.
The blow was great, the shock severe.
We little thought the end was near.
And only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
More each day we miss you, father,
Friends may think the wound is healed.
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Lovingly remembered by wife and family.

Madoc Welcomes Washington Students

Madoc Public School pupils and citizens of the Village and surrounding area are hosts this week to 33 students, 21 boys and 12 girls from W. B. Patterson School in Washington, D.C., a predominately negro section. The students are here on an exchange visit initiated by John Murphy, Principal of the Madoc school.

While here, they are attending Grade 6 classes with Madoc Grade 6 pupils and are living with village and district families.

The students arrived in Madoc after a 12-hour overnight bus trip from Washington Sunday morning. They are accompanied by their teacher, Mr. Jay Cohen, his wife, who is also a teacher, and two mothers.

On arrival at Madoc they were met by Mr. Murphy and the pupils and parents to whose homes they had been assigned.

Besides attending classes, the visitors will take part in a series of outdoor activities and other events arranged for them.

The more than 1,400 enrolment at W. B. Patterson School is about the same as the entire population of Madoc Village. His Grade 6 class, Mr. Cohen said, is typical of the racial composition of the district in which it is situated, with a ratio of about 75 per cent Negroes and 25 whites.

"When the visit was first proposed last November, there was talk of sending only star pupils to make a good impression", he said.

Instead, Mr. Cohen's class was chosen to initiate what teachers here hoped would become a regular event.

Mr. Cohen, a practising lawyer, became a teacher two years ago, "because I like kids".

They brought with them a wall-hanging of Washington scenes made by the pupils of appliqued felt and wool embroidery on burlap.

It was officially presented to Madoc Public School.

Cost of the trip, $50 a person, was paid by the individual Washington pupils. While here, their expenses will be assumed by host families.

So many people in the district offered accommodation in their homes for children, Mr. Murphy instituted a "share a visitor" plan — placing some of the Washington children in two homes during their visit — three days with each host family.

On Monday evening, over 600 Madoc and District citizens gathered at Madoc Public School to give the Washington visitors a rousing welcome.

Mr. Ralph Easthope, President of the Madoc and District Home and School Association, acted as chairman and welcomed the guests on behalf of the Home and School. He in turn introduced Mr. Bruce White, who gave the official welcome on behalf of the Village Council.

Mr. Frank Tate, Area Superintendent, brought greetings on behalf of The Hastings County Board of Education. Mr. Jay Cohen, the classroom teacher and leader of the Washington group, spoke of the warmth and friendship they found on arrival.

Margaret Graham spoke briefly on behalf of the student body at Madoc Public School and was responded to by Sonja Wright from W. B. Patterson School in Washington.

Mr. John Murphy gave his impressions of the first school day of the visit and stated that the venture appeared to be a wonderful experience for all those involved. Mrs. Florence McCoy, Principal of Madoc Township School, brought words of welcome from her community.

Mr. Wm. Aylsworth led an amusing community sing-song, after which everyone was treated to an excellent buffet lunch contributed by the community.

The Madoc Kiwanis Club donated milk and chocolate milk for the occasion and an excellent assortment of cheese was donated by the Eldorado Cheese and Butter Co-Op and the Beulah Cheese Factory at Ivanhoe.

On Tuesday afternoon the visitors visited Moira Lake, where they enjoyed an afternoon of snowmobiling.

Wednesday the visitors and Madoc Grade 6 pupils travelled by bus to Ottawa to give the Washington youngsters an opportunity to compare the two capital cities.

On Saturday morning, a grand farewell is scheduled as the Washington group leaves for home.

As their pupils sit in on regular classes in the Madoc school during the week, Mr. Cohen and Mrs. Cohen will join Madoc teachers in team teaching on an international scale.

TWINS WIN FIRST TWO GAMES OF SERIES

The Twins decked out in new sweaters and socks and skated to a hard-fought 6-5 victory over Napanee in Napanee last Wednesday night. It must have been the sweaters, Coach Nickle said, as his team put up one of their poorest games in the last few. Napanee opened the scoring at 5:23 on a goal by Roantree, but a minute later Rick Nobes tied the score on a good back-hand drive, but before the period had ended, Blakely and Remington had given Napanee a 3-1 lead. The Twins, struggling all the way, got goals from Petherwick and Loucks, to get the Twins on even terms by the end of the second period. The third opened with Napanee taking the lead on a goal by Moon, only to have Don McRae tie it up to 4-4. Napanee came right back on Remington's second goal of the night at 11:52. Les Pyear tied the game up and a minute later Dale Loucks scored the winner. From this point on, the Twins hung on, and saying "hung on" is saying it loosely. With the Twins, it is a feast or a famine. Coach Nickle said we just have to put a third line together. In the last 8 minutes in Napanee and for most of the game, they had to call on two lines and two sets of defense, while they only had one goalie, Reynolds, who put up a good show.

On Friday night, fans of Madoc and district were treated to one of the best hockey games of the season, when the Twins gained a 2-1 victory over Napanee. Both teams checked each other to a stand-still and when they did get in one goal, Moore for the visitors and Bannon in the first and second periods, and Reynolds, in the third, came up with an outstanding save.

This win gives our local boys a 2-0 lead in the best of seven series, but this does not mean it is over, as Napanee, according to Coach Gerow, said that was their best game of the season, and Coach Nickle says his boys have slipped a little. Madoc had a 2-0 lead in goals by Dale Loucks and Les Pyear by the end of the second period. In the third, the locals ran into a raft of penalties and played two men short.

Napanee cut the locals' lead by one on a power play goal by Remington at 10:15. Then the visitors turned on everything they had at the locals and some great goal-tending by Reynolds held on to a real hard victory.

The locals visited Napanee on Wednesday (last night) at 8:30 p.m. and we hope some of you got down to boost the boys on. But if not, come Friday night at 9:00 p.m. in the local arena, when the locals will play the fourth game. This team needs your support at the gate and vocally. See you at the game.

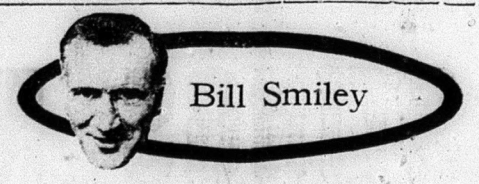
CARBON MONOXIDE

Motorists! To guard against the deadly air pollution hazard of carbon monoxide, make sure your car's exhaust system is fault free and always keep a window open a couple of inches or so when engine is running.



Crescendo of catastrophe

Isn't it odd how troubles come in batches? You can sail along for as many as two whole weeks with everything going as smooth as cream. Then the roof falls in.

There almost literally did last week, when the ice piled up nearly two feet deep behind the eavestroughs, and I couldn't find anyone to chop it off.

Your run of calamities, however, usually begins with a few minor things, like a toothache, or the flu, then builds steadily to a crescendo of catastrophe.

That's the way it's been with me in my latest bout with the fates. Knobs coming off doors. A broken tooth. Coming down and finding the front door wide open with the temperature 10 below and the furnace straining to keep up. Wipers on the car broken down, which is a fairly easy route to suicide the way it's been snowing around here this winter.

Then my car, on which I recently spent $63 to remove the problem of its not starting in the morning, started not starting again. My gimpy curling knee got gimpy and I've been limping around ever since like a sailor with a wooden leg.

But these things you are used to, and cope with, one by one. Got my tooth fixed. Got a chap to hack the ice off roof. Got the door-knobs working, the wipers working, and the knee wrapped in an elastic bandage that cuts off the circulation so badly my face is purple.

It's the things over which you have no control that hit you right between the eyes. Like Sunday noon, when we got a call from my daughter announcing cheerily, though with a touch of trepidation, that she was calling from the hospital. With infectious hepatitis.

You can't say that the kids nowadays don't live dangerously, at any rate. Kim left for the city at New Year, having quit university to live in a commune.

I don't have to go into the commune bit again. It's the method some young people use in today's society to escape from the latter. A commune is an idealistic utopia in which everyone shares the work and the food. Just one big happy family, with no nagging parents and nobody stopping one from doing one's thing.

The commune has vague links with the early Christians and the modern Israelis, which is a nice touch of irony. There have been hundreds of attempts to form such communes in the past. The only thing wrong is that they don't work, unless they are rigidly authoritarian, like the communities of Mennonites.

Kim spent a (presumably) happy week in the commune, then caught hepatitis from one of the other inmates, and lay sick, semi-conscious, without eating, for about two weeks. She had too much pride, feeling she had let us down, to call. We didn't have any phone number and were waiting for a letter. We finally wrote.

She staggered out to the emergency ward of a general hospital, where they gave her a shot of penicillin and threw her back into the snowbanks.

On a Thursdy night, one of the members, who had lately been getting a bit weird (going on a big religious kick), dressed himself in his best, went to his room, and set the house on fire. The others barely got out, into a winter night, with the clothes they were in, and nothing else. He was burned to death. The house was destroyed.

Somehow, Kim got into hospital. All she'd saved was her Christmas present, a radio. A friend loaned her some clothes. She's feeling better.

But, and there are some big BUTS, we don't yet know what damage has been done. Her liver is affected. Its normal thing is 35 to 50, whatever it does. A doctor told her that the worst case they'd ever had in the hospital was 3,500. And then told her that hers was 6,000.

Give us a prayer if you have moment will you."

The handsome boy with the enchanting smile is Don, 15 months old. His mother is Anglo-Saxon and it is possible his father is Greek.

Don is a happy, healthy boy who keeps on the go. He'd rather run than walk and finds he can explore new areas by climbing. He likes other children but is quite able to amuse himself if there's no one to play with.

Don is just getting over a period of being shy with strangers and loves attention from people he knows. He's beginning to talk. Don eats and sleeps well and even acquiring six teeth hasn't upset his routine or his disposition.

This appealing toddler needs parents who will enjoy a dear little son without concern about background. To inquire about adopting Don please write to Today's Child, Department of Social and Family Services, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 182. THE SCHOOL

I have been asked to look back some seventy years and write down as best I can remember, the location and construction of our school and teachers. I will also set down the location of the cheese factory and some the names of some of the pupils and details concerning the operation of the factory.

Let us take the school first. The school was located on the northwest corner of Lot 5, Concession 13, in Huntingdon Township. This property was on Adam Cooney's farm and had been crown land before he took possession. As I remember the school, it was a frame one-room building with seating for about thirty pupils. The door was on the south end and the seats for the children faced north. This was a picture of the school from about 1892 and on.

The first teacher that I can remember was a Miss Minnie St. Charles. She was a very kind teacher and every child was her favourite. Each child was started in school at five years of age if they could attend, or as soon after, if it was possible. The teacher taught all classes from first to fourth reader, with first and second classes for each reader or book as the classes were called then. When you finished the second class of the fourth book you were ready for High School, if you stuck it out that long.

We went to school in our bare feet from early in the spring to as late in the fall as we could stand the cold. Many a sore toe came to school with a bandage on, which we called a stubbed toe, and the toe could be very sore indeed. There were only two children that I can remember who wore boots all year to school.

For the beginners' use there were large white tablets about three feet by four feet. The ABC's were printed on one side in black letters and on the other side printed words, such as cat, hat, and rat, with a picture of the object after the word.

The Inspector was Mr. McIntosh who had been crippled from birth, and one of his legs was very small and short. He got around quite well, but very seldom used more than one crutch while he was in school. The Inspector was a very fine man and I think he got along well with the teachers.

I don't want to stretch this out too long, but I would like to tell of one amusing incident that happened one day in the fall of the year. Some schoolboys had caught a young deer in the spring and he became very tame, but they kept him tied up at home. This one day he broke loose and made his way to the schoolhouse. It was a warm day and the back door was open. We heard the deer come up the back step, then he came into the school, trotted up the aisle and stood by his friend. The teacher was working at the blackboard with her back to the room, but she turned around and said clearly, "You'd better take that animal home". Charley was very embarassed, but he got up and took the deer away.

A good deal more could be written concerning the children, teachers and other happenings, but I will try and do what I can now to describe the cheese factory and its workings.

THE FACTORY

The cheese factory was located on the north side of the road on Lot 4, Concession 14, in Huntingdon Township. The building was not large, but contained two vats. I don't remember the size of the vats, but milk came from a wide area. There were living quarters on a second floor over the factory.

The first cheesemaker that I can remember was a big, fine-looking man named Edward Dewey. He used to come out to all the parties and dances and there used to be lots of dances in those days. The next cheesemaker was Herman Lloyd and his sister lived with him. Both Mr. Lloyd and his sister married local people.

The factory was built on a rise about three hundred feet from the road. A number of patrons kept pigs for fattening in pens located at the roadway. The whey came down to these pens to a large tank by way of a board trough and on a hot day the boards would shrink and the whey would be spilled to the ground beneath. Between the whey and the pig pens it did not smell too sweet. They called this factory the "Daisy" and she sure smelled "Daisy" for a mile away.

Each family with pigs at the factory pens looked after their feeding or made arrangements with the cheesemaker to feed them. They were fed mostly peas and corn on the cob. The pigs were never butchered for home use until each one was so fat he couldn't come up to feed.

Most people drew their own milk to the factory. However, one man I remember well, drew milk for my grandfather and two or three other people. One morning, one of his two horses was hurt at the factory and died soon after. Having only one horse, he decided to put the harness on a dry cow and went on drawing milk as before. I rode with him one day from my grandfather's house to my own home and I remember the cow was a bit slower than the horse and in order not to frighten the horse with a whip he had a stick with a nail in the end and would just jab the cow with the nail. This man was not well off, but he was a real help when there was sickness or trouble of any kind in the settlement. This would be mostly before the year 1900.

I don't think this bit of history would be complete if I didn't include some of our way of living in those far off days. I have seen as many as four men cradling grain and four or more men tying grain with bands made from straw. Threshing was very crude and was done by horsepower. Five teams of horses were used with a small mill called an open cylinder. The straw was pushed out behind the thresher and was pushed away with a large straw fork. The grain cutter, called a reaper, was developed just before the turn of the century. The reaper cut and bundled the grain but did not tie it. The binder was developed soon after that.

Many changes have taken place since the turn of the century, mostly in the labor-saving methods in use today. Much of the hard labor of those former years is only known to this modern generation when read of it. It is to be hoped that they will appreciate the changes that have been made.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to Rev. Sedgwick and Rev. Wilson for their comforting messages; the members of the choir, and the women of the U.C.W. of Eldorado United Church for their beautiful message in song and serving lunch. Also the MacKenzie Funeral Home for their kindness and help during the bereavement of our brother, George. May God bless you all.

Announcing:

A special case for the most powerful battery in its class.

"Turbofire 90"

(from Canadian Tire, of course.)

The Turbofire 90 amp. battery is priced at $27.50, with trade.

Canadian Tire's "Turbofire 90" is the strongest, most powerful Canadian-built 12-volt battery in its class. That's why it carries one of the longest guarantees in the industry, 6 full years!

An "Armor-Glass" case makes it possible. A high strength polypropylene material 60% stronger in cold weather than ordinary battery containers. Solid. Leak-proof. And top value. Of course.

"Turbofire 90's" special case does special things. The unusual strength of "Armor-Glass" permits thinner battery walls, freeing up space inside for greater acid volume and more plates. Result – a 90 amp. battery with more than enough power to start your car in the coldest weather.

It's a battery with extraordinary high torque strength. High operating power. Quick response. Impact and vibration resistance.

If you're looking for unfailing year-round battery performance that's guaranteed for 6 years, look at our "Turbofire 90". There's none better. Anywhere.

REMINISCING

Taken from the Review files of 50, 25 and 15 years ago.

50 YEARS AGO

February 26th, 1920

Last Friday evening the brethren of L.O.L. No. 160 assembled for the purpose of dedicating their new hall on North Durham Street.

Mr. John Hart left at this office a knife which he picked up about 40 years ago while he was walking through the woods on lot 20 in the 8th concession of Sidney. The blade is five and one half inches in length and is dagger-shaped. The knife shows in every part of its structure great age and hard usage. The edge of the blade is deeply indented and saw shaped. The wooden handle is gone and through its perforated parts are two rivets which formerly held the wood. Mr. Hart has submitted the knife to many people to discover, if possible, some clue to its early history, but so far to no avail.

Madoc High School held the monthly meeting of the Literary Society on Monday evening in the basement of the Methodist Church. A reading by Miss Margaret Cochran and a piano solo by Miss Mary Foote were among the numbers on the program. A number enjoyed by all was a mock trial. Mr. Kenneth Connor acted as judge, Mr. Eric Cross as counsel for the plaintiff, and Mr. Harry Lovibond for the accused. Mr. Wm. Francis Duggan was the prisoner brought before the court for numerous charges of slander. Although well defended, he was found guilty and sentenced to write 200 lines of Virgil. Mr. Albert Miller was charged with "fussing", a most heinous crime, but was acquitted. Miss Morna Wallbridge, who acted as critic, then gave her report.

The announcement that there would be a trial in the Town Hall Thursday in which Jimmie Cooper would figure filled the place to the doors. James Cooper was charged by Nicholas Fleming with having stolen three cords of wood belonging to him and of having fired a rifle at him. The difficulty of securing the facts may be seen when, after four hours of strenuous mental effort by two magistrates, two lawyers and six witnesses, we find three witnesses swearing that Jimmie did not fire a gun nor did he steal Flemings wood, while three witnesses gave evidence that Jimmie was guilty of the charges. Result, Jimmie lost the wood and if he does not conduct himself properly he will lose his liberty also.

Death — Mrs. Abraham Wallace died at her home in Huntingdon Twp. on Sunday, February 8th, 1920. Mrs. Wallace, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stout of Ivanhoe, is survived by her husband, two sons and three daughters.

25 YEARS AGO

The hostesses were Miss Robertson, Mrs. Irwin, Miss Connor, Miss MacDermid and Miss Multon. The decorations were carried out in Valentine colors. The program consisted of singing, games and contests, after which Miss Ferguson was presented with a gift and a Valentine lunch was served.

Major William K. Stocklósar of Madoc, son of Mr. Karl Stocklosar and the late Mrs. Stoklosar, a former member of original Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, and recently second in command of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel, National Defence Headquarters has announced. Lieut. Col. Stocklosar, who recently celebrated his 28th birthday, was a resident of Madoc until the time of his enlistment in 1939.

Marriage — St. John's Anglican Church, Victoria, was the setting on December 23rd, for the wedding of Constance Margaret, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Benning, to Leading Seaman, Donald Edward Broadworth, R.C.N.V.R., of Stirling, Ontario, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Broadworth of Rawdon Twp. Rev. George Biddle officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Nella Anderson and Miss Hazel Anderson and Leading Cook Isaac Braun of Comax was best man. The groom is a nephew of Mrs. George Bassett of Madoc.

Deaths — After an illness of some duration, Mr. Joseph Cox of Madoc passed away in Belleville Hospital on Friday, February 16th, in his 79th year. He is survived by his wife, formerly Mas Addie Reid of Madoc, one son, Andrew, and two daughters, Grace of Belleville, and Mildred (Mrs. Arthur Cooney) of Toronto.

Mrs. W. E. Connor, who has been in failing health for some time, died at her home here on Monday. Mrs. Connor, the former Mabel Devlin, of Marmora, is survived by her husband, one son, Kenneth of Madoc, and one daughter, Mrs. Edward (Ruth) Cross of Toronto.

The animal, chased by dogs, came up Champlain Street to No. 7 Highway, crossed the intersection at No. 62 Highway north on Russel Street, to the Cold Storage Plant, east to Durham Street, across the bowling greens and south to Elgin Street, then back to No. 62 Highway past the theatre to the southern part of the Village.

When driving on snow or ice, remember . . . Traction is twice as good when the temperature is at zero than when it's around 32 degrees. Tests have proven this to be true. So believe the test — don't find out by accident. When driving on snow or ice, slow down as the temperature rises.

KINGSTON PRESBYTERIAL W.M.S. HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The theme for the Annual Meeting of the W.M.S. of the Kingston Presbytery, held in St. Columba Presbyterian Church, Belleville on February 4th, 1970, was "Christian Attributes" (1) Love for God; (2) Love for Fellow men — Through Faith and Prayer".

As the ladies arrived by car and bus on a cold morning, a cup of coffee and a bran muffin, served by the ladies of St. Columba, was much appreciated. Mrs. Lyons of Kingston, President, was in charge of the meeting and opened with an appropriate Call to Worship. The Worship Service was conducted by members from Trenton W.M.S., with their theme taken from 1st John, Chapter 4, beginning at verse 7. Mrs. B. Hackett, President of St. Columba W.M.S., welcomed the ladies to their church.

The minutes of the 1969 Annual Meeting were adopted and approved as printed in the report. A New Year's message from Mrs. McClelland, W.M.S. (W.D.) President, was read. The First Vice-President, Glad Tidings Secretary and one member from the Nominating Committee were appointed to attend Synodical, to be held in Guelph in April. Mrs. V. Weir explained the "Second Mile" knitting project to be undertaken by the W.M.S. The Summer Rally is to be held at St. John's Church, North of Kingston, on May 20th. The Treasurer, Mrs. W. H. L. Smith, gave a very encouraging financial report. Mrs. Smith has been our very capable Treasurer for 10 years and retired at this meeting. We feel certain all appreciate her untiring work and will miss her pleasant personality, as she gave her report.

Three Workshops were held — 1., Girl's Work; 2., Children's work and 3., Supplies. There were interesting discussions and a lot of information was obtained.

The President closed the morning session with prayer. A hearty luncheon was served to everyone by the hostesses. It was much enjoyed by all.

The afternoon session opened with a Worship Service, conducted by the Sandhill ladies. The Roll Call was taken by the Secretary. This was followed by a Memorial service by Amherstview Church in remembrance of those who had passed away since our last annual meeting. A delightful solo, "How Great Thou Art", was sung.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Beatrice Scott, B.A. Miss Scott has been associated with all of the W.M.S. educational workers in India. She first taught in the Helen MacDonald Secondary School, Jhansi, India. Then she went to the Bhil Field in India. She combined teaching with Evangelistc work. She served as principal of the Amkut School and supervisor of the Village school. Many changes have taken place in the school system in India, just as in ours. New class rooms, science rooms and libraries are being built, but still there is need for more rooms. As school attendance increases, classes are held on verandahs and in homes. Many children come to school because they are hungry. One good meal a day is given to the school children. There has been a good response given to relief programs. Grain and milk are given to families, but one member of the family must work for a ration of grain. This requires much planning and supervising, keeping records, weighing and giving out grain.

The Government is gradually taking over the schools. Certain requirements must be met in the ordinary schools before children can attend Government schools. Government exams have to be written and there is also a requirement that Bible teaching of any kind must not be given in school hours. Therefore, it is necessary to teach Bible classes before school begins in the morning. It is a good thing that the Indians are becoming able to look after their own affairs as far as education is concerned, but it is sad to think they are leaving religion out. Miss Scott asked that our prayers go out to these people in India.

The offering was taken and dedicated by Mrs. Smith. The report of the Nominiating Committee was given by Mrs. Broatch of Trenton. The following officers were elected and were installed by Rev. Gentle of St. Columba, Belleville:- Hon. President, Miss Frieda Matthews; President, Mrs. G. H. Lyons; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. G. R. Williamson; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. D. C. MacPherson; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. B. Hackett; Recording Secretary, Mrs. F. McKee; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Jessie Rogers; Treasurer, Mrs. G. Gentle; Afternoon Groups' Sec., Mrs. L. Reddick; Evening Groups' Sec., Mrs. W. G. D. Patterson; Girls' Groups' Sec., Mrs. F. E. McPhee; Childrens' Groups' Sec., Mrs. K. Hood; Home Helpers' Sec., Miss Dorothea Druce; Friendship and services, Mrs. James Broatch; Literature, Mrs. John Broatch; Glad Tidings' Sec., Mrs. H. Thompson; Press, Mrs. B. Haggerty; Supply, Mrs. Jas. Johnson; Life Membership, Mrs. John Bailey; Historian, Mrs. John Craid; Without portfolio, Mrs. J. Cliff and Mrs. F. R. Laughton.

The Benediction was pronounced by Rev. Gentle and a day of inspiration and fellowship was brought to a close.

TAX TIPS

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This column has been prepared by the Belleville District Office, Department of National Revenue, Taxation. Generally applicable answers to common questions are attempted. Where unusual circumstances render the answers inadequate to your needs, consult your Income Tax Guide. If you are still in need of help, phone 968-6424 in Belleville, or write to National Revenue, Taxation, 11 Station St., District Office, Belleville, for free advice.

By A. K. Miller,
Public Relations Officer.

1. Q. I know I should have received a personalized income tax return because I have filed a return for the past five years. However, either I have not received it or I have lost it since it was delivered. What do I do now?

A. You should obtain a T1 form from either a Post Office or your District Taxation Office, and complete and file it as soon as possible. Be sure you obtain and file the proper form — T1 Short, for the majority of Canadians, or T1 General.

2. Q. My wife and I both receive the Old Age Security Pension. Can we file one return for both of us?

A. No. Every person who has a taxable income for the year must file an income tax return. Therefore, if both you and your wife have a taxable income, you must both file a return. If either of you does not have a taxable income, it is not necessary for that person to file a return. However, if tax was withheld from income received, you should file, even if you don't have a taxable income, in order to claim a refund of tax withheld.

3. Q. I am living "common-law". Do I show myself as "married" on my income tax return?

A. No. Common-law marriages are not recognized for income tax purposes.

4. Q. Can special reference books for a teacher or technician be claimed as a deduction for income tax purposes by a salaried worker?

A. No. There is no provision in the Income Tax Act which allows the cost of reference books as a deduction from salaried employment.

5. Q. My daughter is seventeen and attends school. She is receiving a Youth Allowance of $10 a month. On my income tax form do I claim $300 or $550 for her?

A. You can claim an exemption of $550 for her. Youth Allowances don't affect the exemption you can claim for your child.

6. Q. I have always claimed my father on my income tax return as a dependant. Last March he was killed in an auto accident. How much may I claim for him, if anything?

A. If your father's income for the year up to date of death was less than $950, you are entitled to claim any amount you spent in his support for the year of death, up to the $550 maxmium.

7. Q. The T4 slip I received from my employer shows $4,500 earnings for the year without any Canada Pension Plan deductions. As an employee what can I do to protect myself from an employer who has not made Canada Pension contributions on my behalf?

A. You should file a formal complaint in writing before April 30th of the following year, or along with your Income Tax Return. The District Taxation Office will take action to find out why your employer has not deducted and remitted contributions on your behalf.

1970 EASTER SEAL "TIMMY" NAMED

Stephen Francis, a 10-year-old student at Toronto's Sunny View Public School, has been selected as the 1970 Easter Seal Campaign's "Timmy".

Campaign chairman W. D. Witaker of Toronto emphasized that Timmy symbolizes the more than 14,500 Ontario youngsters whose needs are cared for by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children through Easter Seal Campaign donations.

The 1970 campaign runs from February 26th to March 29th.

Stephen, a Montreal Canadiens hockey fan, will make his first public appearances at the London and Toronto Sports Celebrities dinners February 2nd and 3rd. He will be accompanied to the Toronto dinner by "Whipper" Billy Watson, honourary campaign chairman.

Although born with cerebral palsy, Stephen is active in the Sunny View School Wolf Cub Pack. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Francis of Hunter Street, Toronto, he is a top student in his Grade 5 class and hopes some day to pursue a theatrical career.

Stephen, Ontario's 24th Timmy, has attended the Society's Bible Mountain Summer Camp at Collingwood for the past three years.

INTERNATIONAL BOOK HAS STORY FROM AREA

Frank Morrison former instructor in writing at the Madoc-Tweed Art Centre, was the guest of honour at a reception given by the St. Petersburg Writers' Club last Sunday, in recognition of his book "Adventure Stories for Boys", which has just been published by T. S. Denison and Company, Minneapolis.

One of the stories "The Legend of the Peace Pine", has its location in the vicinity of the Lester B. Pearson Peace Park and was written while Mr. Morrison was at the Centre. The inspiration for the story came from which, according to Indian legend, the large white pines in the area are the peace pines of the Ojibwa tribe whom the French described as the most peaceful of all the Indians they had met. The story is how this came about. It is perhaps fitting that on this site is now located an international peace park. Among the guests at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cadwell, Directors of the Centre.
